

Launching Small Satellites in Russia: Problems, Solutions and the Future

Gerry Webb
Commercial Space Technologies Ltd.

A significant proportion of small satellites from 10-500 kg continue to be launched from Russia. How CST brokers its launches will be described and the launch opportunities that are available now will be reviewed. New launchers about to be introduced will be described and the likely development of the situation for launching small satellites in Russia will be discussed.